

BEGIN WORK IN HENRICO

New Catholic Parish Will be Developed in Fulton and the Surrounding Territory.

BUILDING TO BE ERECTED

Mr. Brauer Soon to Wind Up the County Affairs—Will Probably Return to Market.

Plans are being projected for the development of a new Catholic parish in Fulton and the surrounding territory just outside of the city limits. A deed was filed in the clerk's office of the Henrico County Court yesterday by Sarah Jane Doherty, conveying to Bishop Van de Vyver, for a consideration of $400,000, a lot of land and improvements at the southeast corner of State and Brin Streets, fronting on State Street ninety feet and running back between parallel lines one hundred and ten feet to an alley. Upon this lot will be erected, as soon as practicable, a Gothic frame structure, 50 by 60 feet, to be used as a Sunday school building. It will be ready by the summer. The mission will be under the immediate care of the Rev. Father McKeefry, of St. Patrick's Church, for whom the purchase of the Fulton property was made. The work in that section will be gradually developed, and eventually a church will be erected upon the site.

Before many more days the direct communication between the office of the treasurer of Henrico and the commissioners of the revenue will be resumed. The desk of ex-treasurer Brauer is now against the door. The work of turning over the accounts to Mr. Todd is now practically completed, and the next few days will see an end of the double duty. It is understood that Mr. Brauer will return to his stall in the Old Market after twelve years of absence. He son, who has been conducting the business as a hardware store on West Broad Street, so far as can be ascertained, the investigation of the accounts of Mr. Brauer has proceeded no further than a preliminary examination of the books by Mr. Houdart. It is not known when the work will be resumed.

The Corporation Commission today will hear the complaint of William E. Oakley against the Richmond Passenger and Power Company, which case was postponed from March 10th. The complainant, who lives at East Richmond, on Clay Street, complains that the company has failed to grant transfers to and from the Seven Pines line and the Clay Street line. Prior to the 1st of February this system prevailed, but upon that day the company inaugurated a new policy, cutting out transfers requiring full fare on the Seven Pines line, and abolishing ticket transfers. The case, it is said, hinges not so much upon the construction of the language of the charters of the company.

Four young white men—Sam Watson, Herbert Dever, Isaac Bonarr and James Brophy—arrested on a charge of vagrancy, were tried yesterday before Judge James T. Lewis and fined $2.50 and costs each, in default of which they went to jail. The young men came from Philadelphia, according to their statement, recently lost their positions in a strike in a woolen plant there. They came here seeking employment.

Pleasant Parnell, the negro who was shot in Fulton Monday night, is in jail. The man who did the shooting is still at large. Parnell was arrested on an old warrant, charging him with stealing brasses from the Chesapeake and Ohio Railroad.

Miss Mabel Watkins, principal of the Dumbarton High School, has been quite ill for some time. She is being attended by Dr. Julius E. Warriner. Her position is being filled temporarily by Mrs. Eleonora Kirk.

Mary Jackson, a negro woman, was given six months in jail yesterday for beating her son. She had committed the offense before. It is said.

PRINCESS ANNE C. H., VA., March 22.—The first term of Princess Anne Circuit Court, Judge Portlock presiding, commenced yesterday with good attendance, and will likely continue throughout the week. The first day was taken up in organizing the court, but considerable business was disposed of to-day. Judge Portlock, Judge Benjamin D. White and Judge A. J. Ackles are the guests of Mr. A. E. Kellam, clerk of the court, for the term.

Accidentally Shot.
(Special to The Times-Dispatch.)

LYNCHBURG, Va., March 22.—Frank Reed, son of Mr. Robert J. Reed, was accidentally shot in the knee yesterday by one of his young friends with a thirty-eight calibre Smith and Wesson revolver.

HEARST IS LEADING

Nearly All the Delegates So Far Chosen Are His.

SOME ALARM IS FELT

(From Our Regular Correspondent.)

WASHINGTON, D. C., March 22.—A Democratic member of Congress called attention to-day to the fact of the 116 delegates to the St. Louis Convention already chosen, 111 are instructed for Mr. Hearst. It is announced to-day that the Democrats of Lynn, Massachusetts, in convention to-day, voted in favor of George Fred Williams as one of the delegates at large to St. Louis. Mr. Williams has only recently declared for Mr. Hearst for the Democratic nomination to the presidency.

There may still be some who refuse to admit that Mr. Hearst's candidacy seriously, but the number has grown to be very small. Owing to the fact that he is a member of Congress, many of his colleagues do not care to discuss his candidacy, though nearly every Democrat in the House is opposed to his nomination. Representative Burleson, of Texas, said to-day that there were not ten Democrats in the House of Representatives who were in favor of the nomination of Mr. Hearst. Representative Griggs, of Georgia, chairman of the Democratic Congressional Committee, is one of the number.

The majority of the representatives from Georgia are doing all in their power to counteract the growing Hearst sentiment in their State and are sending out a great deal of literature designed to present convincing arguments why he should not be nominated.

Representative Jones, of Virginia, said to-day that he was probably for Judge Parker for the Democratic nomination, but that he was not very enthusiastic in support of any man's candidacy. Representative Hay is in pretty close touch with the men who are leading the Parker campaign, and said to-day he believed the nomination of the New York chief justice was pretty well assured. Representative Lamb is also for the nomination of Judge Parker.

A gentleman from Virginia remarked in conversation with The Times-Dispatch correspondent to-day, that Mr. Hearst stood a good chance to get the delegation from Virginia, but the representatives from Virginia will not admit any chance of the kind. There have been a number of Hearst clubs formed in various sections of the State, and it is known that in certain sections he is quite strong.

Richmond Man to Rebuild.
The Baltimore Herald of yesterday says: Mr. and Mrs. Hoffman Allan, of Richmond, Va., have taken apartments at the Bristol, on Rutaw Place, and will spend several weeks in Baltimore. Mr. Allan owned warehouses in Baltimore and German Streets, which were destroyed by the fire, and is here for the purpose of making arrangements to rebuild. Mr. and Mrs. Allan were in Havana, Cuba, when they heard of the great Baltimore fire.

VIEWS ON THE PRIMARY

Congressmen Answer Enquiry as to Their Attitude on Machen Bill.

THE POSITION OF MR. GLASS

Hay, Rixey, Lamb, Maynard and Jones Send Statements—The Others Not Heard From.

Soon after the defeat of the Machen primary bill at the recent session of the Legislature, and the adjournment of that body, The Times-Dispatch telegraphed all the Democratic members of the Virginia delegation in Congress, asking them what, if any, part they had taken in the fight over the bill, and if they had opposed it, upon what was their opposition based.

The replies to this message were delayed for the reason that many of the members were absent from Washington with their colleagues at Jamestown on Saturday, and did not get back for a few days.

Six of them have replied so far, and their letters and telegrams are printed below. Those who have answered are Messrs. Glass, Rixey, Hay, Lamb, Maynard and Jones. Messrs. Southall and Swanson have not replied as yet. The position of Mr. Flood had been fully given in interviews had with our Washington correspondent before the statements were requested. The letters and telegrams follow:

Position of Mr. Glass.

Editor of The Times-Dispatch:

Sir—Replying to your telegram, I desire to say that my position on the Machen primary bill has nothing to do with any other congressman's position, nor do I believe any other congressman's position on the bill has anything to do with my own.

My own position has been repeatedly stated in my newspaper. I believe the General Assembly was constitutionally bound to legalize party primaries. I was led to suppose by a publication in your paper that this had been done as a part of the work of the Revision Committee, and that all the constraints and restraints of law that apply to regular elections had been made applicable to primary elections. I thought this was sufficient.

When I learned that Judge Phlegar and other strong lawyers doubted the constitutionality of the existing statute, I earnestly favored some efficient legislation on party primaries. Mr. Machen sent me his bill and asked me to support it. I promptly wrote him that I doubted the wisdom of several provisions, and would at another time write him my objections specifically.

I was opposed to a secret ballot clause, believing that the viva voce system for senators and representatives in Congress, as well as for State officers, is the surest possible safeguard against fraud. It had been tried in my district, where fifteen thousand tested Democrats listed their names for one candidate or another, and not an objection was made to it, though the contest was intense.

I objected to circuit judges naming election officers on the nomination of a party chairman, thus making a party chairman a sort of election officer. I do not desire to run for office.

I objected to that insidious phrase about "delegated conventions," which seemed to look like a legal text and pretext for creating confusion and undermining the direct method of voting.

My idea was to let the voters choose the General Assembly had to do with primary legislation was, not to make a plan, but to legalize any plan the party might adopt, and make its provisions legally binding on the constituted party authorities and qualified voters. Accordingly, I do not regard indirectly, communicated with him on the subject.

Very truly yours,
CARTER GLASS.

Lynchburg, Va.

Mr. Rixey for Primary.

Editor of The Times-Dispatch:

Sir—Your telegram would have received earlier consideration but for my absence on Saturday.

If the statute legalizing primary elections is constitutional, it is, in my opinion, all that is required. If that statute is not valid, I favor no primary. There is no valid primary nomination, though the delegates to such conventions may be selected by primary. There is no primary, and by that, I mean the direct vote for the candidate. This is the only sure way of arriving at the will of the voters.

Yours very truly,
JNO. RIXEY.

Washington, D. C., March 22.

His Position Well Known.

Editor of The Times-Dispatch:

Sir—My letter published in your issue of February 21 has correctly expressed the views then held by me as to the Machen bill. Not knowing in what respects it had been subsequently amended in the Senate, if in any, or in what form the bill was finally reported to the House, I neither favored nor opposed its passage, and, therefore, took no position in regard to it.

Very truly yours,
W. A. JONES.

Washington, D. C., March 22.

Convention's Province.

Editor of The Times-Dispatch:

Sir—My main objection to the Machen bill is that the Legislature is invoked to formulate a plan of primary, when the formulation of a primary plan belongs exclusively to the State conventions of the two political parties in the State.

Very truly yours,
JAMES HAY.

Washington, D. C., March 22.

Expressed No Opinion.

Editor of The Times-Dispatch:

Sir—I do not approve of the convention plan, though am in favor of a legalized primary. I could not learn the character of the amendments offered to the bill in the House; therefore, I could not express an opinion at that stage of proceeding.

Very truly yours,
JOHN LAMB.

Washington, D. C., March 22.

Didn't Read the Bill.

Editor of The Times-Dispatch:

Sir—Replying to your inquiry, I have not read the Machen bill and am not familiar with its provisions. I have never expressed an opinion for or against it. Absence from Washington has prevented an earlier reply.

Very truly yours,
H. L. MAYNARD.

Washington, D. C., March 22.

ate amounts thereof for each fraction of a share of stock.

"As required by the laws of the State of New Jersey, under which the company was created, a special meeting of the shareholders has been called for April 21, 1904, at the office of the company in Hoboken.

"The assets of the company remaining in its treasury after the foregoing distribution is made will consist of stocks and other property in no way involved in the proceeds of income, and conservatively valued at an amount in excess of $2,500,000, to which it is proposed to reduce the stock of the company."

Sat All Day Long.

The new plan was formally adopted at a meeting of the directors, which began in the morning and lasted until well into the afternoon. There were present at this meeting President Hill, George F. Baker, William P. Clark, Thomas W. Harriman, D. W. Williams, James D. Lamont, John S. Kennedy, George W. Perkins, N. T. Terhune and one or more other directors.

Dealings in Union Pacific common on the stock exchange aggregated over 100 per cent. of the total outstanding issue. It was declared in various quarters that the Hill-Morgan party had for some reason deemed it necessary to buy heavily into this stock.

A report that in this rumor was heightened by the fact that brokers who often represent Morgan interests on the exchange were heavy buyers of Union Pacific all the way up. Large amounts of Southern Pacific shares also changed hands and sales of Great Northern preferred, of which the floating supply is very small, amounted to 1,000 shares.

After the close of the market a long conference was held at the office of J. P. Morgan & Co. in New York. Those who attended included Messrs. Morgan, Harriman, Hill, Lamont, Perkins, J. P. Morgan, Jr., Francis Lynde Stetson, of counsel to J. P. Morgan and Company, and ex-Judge Bunn, of Minnesota. Mr. Hill's personal legal adviser, Mr. J. C. Smith, was also present.

Messrs. Hill and Harriman left the Morgan banking house arm in arm and apparently in the best of spirits. Both declared to make any statement beyond saying that a perfect understanding had been reached all around. Mr. Hill denied that there had been any differences respecting the dissolution plan.

Morgan Seemed Pleased.

Mr. Morgan and his partners had no comment to make, but Mr. Morgan seemed pleased with the day's events. At the banking house of Kuhn, Loeb and Company, the chief financial backers of the Harriman system of railroads, no statement of any sort was made.

A report that the firm had, as the Harriman representatives, received a substantial cash bonus for agreeing to the distribution plan, could not be verified. The street heard that Hill-Morgan interests would be given representation in the Union Pacific road, in return for which Union Pacific interests would be asked to have a place in the Northern Pacific directory.

Sales of Union Pacific common aggregated over four hundred thousand shares at a net advance of 3 1/4 points. Southern Pacific was traded in to the extent of over 100,000 shares, ending net 2 3/4 points. The advance in the 1,000 shares of Great Northern preferred was 1 1/2 points. The Pacifics, in fact the general market, went higher with the boom in the Northern Securities stock.

On the curb Northern Securities made a net gain of 8 points on sales of about 20,000 shares. The stock touched 90 7/8 and closed at 90.

THE STROKE WAS FATAL

Dr. McDonald Dies in Atlanta From the Results of Paralysis.

WAS ONCE PASTOR HERE

Was a Very Distinguished Minister and Was Exceeding Well Known in Richmond.

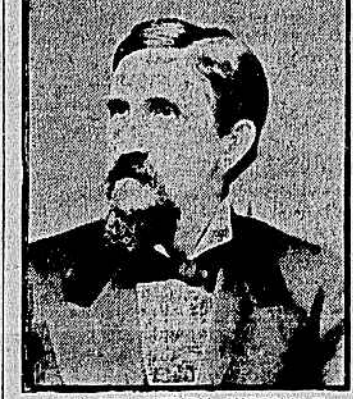

After lingering for a few hours in an unconscious condition, Rev. Henry McDonald, D. D., formerly pastor of the Second Baptist Church of this city, and one of the most widely known ministers in the South, died yesterday morning in Atlanta, Ga., from the effects of a stroke of paralysis he suffered on the day previous.

Throughout Richmond and Virginia the news of the death of Dr. McDonald so soon following the sudden announcement of his desperate illness, caused the most widespread regret. A long and brilliant pastorate in this city had made his name familiar to many, and hundreds remembered him with affection and esteem. He was stricken with paralysis in Atlanta on Monday and his condition was at once hopeless. Yesterday morning his daughter, Mrs. Benjamin T. Crump, of this city, left for the bedside, but a quarter of an hour after the train started, the news of his death was received. The end came at 11:45 o'clock.

Sketch of His Life.

A native of Ireland, Dr. McDonald came to this country when he was about fifteen years of age. He was of Scotch-Irish descent. At a young man, he studied at Georgetown College, of Kentucky, from which institution he was graduated with high honors.

After leaving school, Dr. McDonald studied law, and for a time was in the office of Robert Harding, then one of Kentucky's most distinguished representatives in Congress. He enjoyed a short, but brilliant, career as a lawyer, and then fitted himself for the ministry. During the forty or fifty years that followed, Dr. McDonald filled a number of pulpits with great distinction, and at the time of his death was one of the best known Baptist ministers in the country. His first church he served was in Georgetown. From that city he was called to the Second Baptist Church, of Richmond. Here he remained for eight years when he was called to the Second Baptist Church of Atlanta, Ga. He preached in that city until he felt it his duty to resign on account of his advanced age. His people urged him to continue and offered to give him an assistant, but he felt that such an important charge needed a more vigorous man. The church at St. Louis, near his old home, then extended him a call, and he preached there two years. In January he resigned and returned to Atlanta to spend the remainder of his days.

Dr. McDonald was about seventy years of age. He was pleasant and unassuming in manner and was a deep thinker and forceful and eloquent speaker. He is survived by his widow, who was a daughter of Richard Harding, of Kentucky. He leaves also six children—Mrs. Benjamin T. Crump, of this city; Mrs. W. M. Welch, and Mrs. M. L. Brittain, of Atlanta, Ga.; Mr. Aaron H. McDonald, of Little Rock, Ark.; Mr. Robert H. McDonald, of Chicago, and Lieutenant Paul H. McDonald, of the United States navy.

Disney, of Knoxville, Tenn.

Wine, in Culpeper county, Va., in her eighty-seventh year, from acute bronchitis. Mrs. Brannin was well known in many sections of Virginia, having traveled many counties as an itinerant minister's wife, and many friends of other days will mourn her death. She leaves a brother and aged husband, and two grown children.

Mrs. Eliza K. Hoppe.
